

LIVE
NPR 24 Hour Program Stream
On Air Now
MY PLAYLIST

DONATE

BUSINESS

Trump fires EEOC and labor board officials, setting up legal fight

UPDATED JANUARY 28, 2025 · 6:07 PM ET

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices
 Andrea Hsu

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All will track technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this information by changing your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's performance. Information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalized advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

List of Partners (service providers or vendors)

Jennifer Abruzzo, general counsel for the National Labor Relations Board under former President Joe Biden, was one of the federal leaders fired on Monday by President Trump.

Amanda Anzures/AP Press

Manage Preferences

Reject All

Accept All

It wasn't a surprise when President Trump fired National Labor Relations Board General Counsel Jennifer Abruzzo late Monday. She was a Biden appointee who had used the agency to expand workers' rights.

But Trump went further, also firing Democratic board member Gwynne Wilcox in an unprecedented move that she has vowed to fight in court.

Due to existing vacancies, Wilcox's ouster leaves the board with just two members, short of the quorum it needs to adjudicate even routine cases. (The board, when fully staffed, has five members.)

With this move, Trump has effectively shut down the NLRB's operations, leaving the workers it defends on their own, AFL-CIO president Liz Shuler said in a statement.

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media,

"These moves will make it easier for bosses to violate the law and trample on workers' legal rights on the job and fundamental freedom to organize," she wrote.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

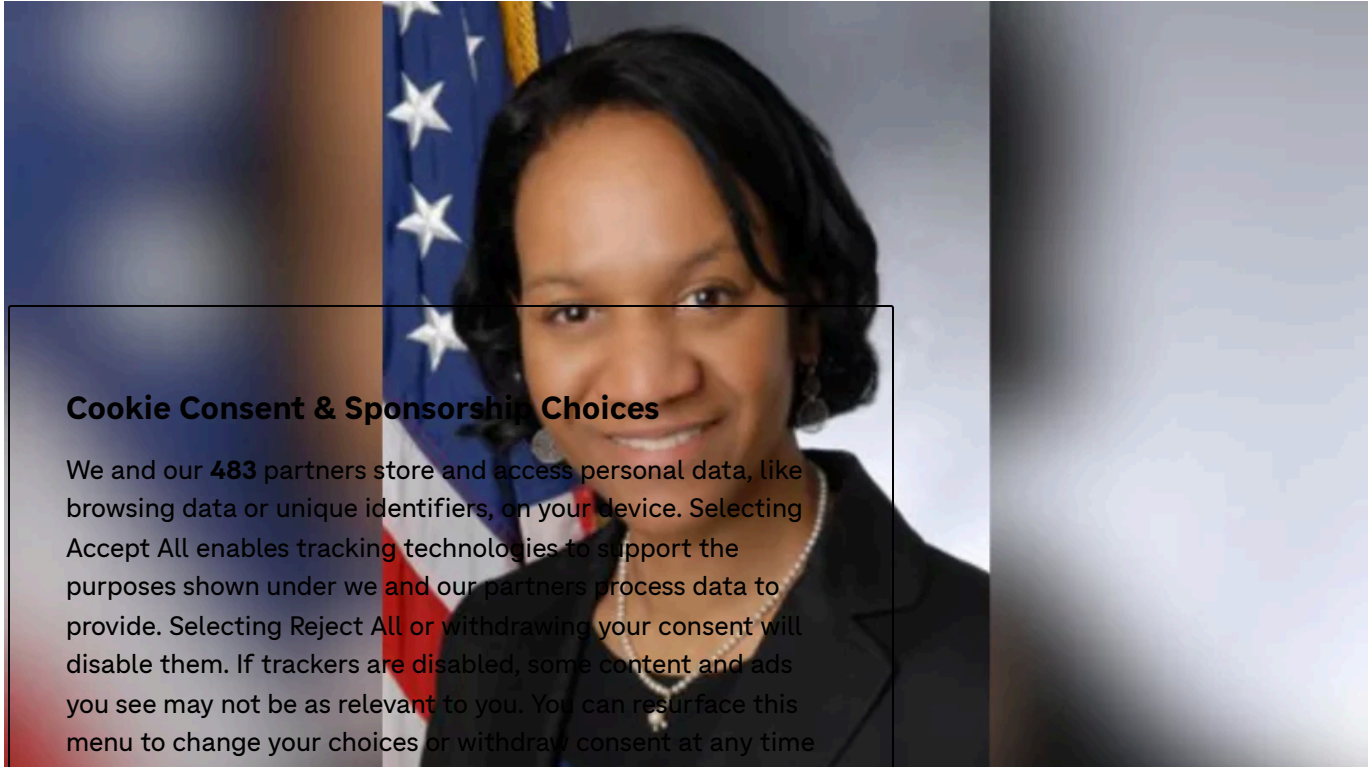

Trump ousts EEOC commissioners

President Trump also abruptly fired two Democratic commissioners at the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission late Monday.

During his first term, Trump had appointed one of them, Jocelyn Samuels, to fill a Democratic seat. She was serving a second term ending July 2026.

The other commissioner, Charlotte Burrows, was first appointed to the EEOC by former President Barack Obama. She served under Trump in his first term and continued under former President Joe Biden. Although she stepped down as chair of the EEOC earlier this month, her third term on the commission wasn't set to expire until July 2028.

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. Former chair of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Charlotte Burrows was removed from office on Jan. 27, 2025.

EEOC

For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy. By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsors, analytics, and other vendors for service providers. Removing me, along with Commissioner Samuels, well before the expiration of our terms is unprecedented and will undermine the efforts of this independent agency to do the important work of protecting employees from discrimination, supporting employers' compliance efforts, and expanding public awareness and understanding of federal employment laws." Burrows wrote in a statement.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Both Burrow and Samuels said they would explore legal options to challenge their removal. Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

"Protecting workers from unlawful discrimination is an American value; it is not — and should not be — a partisan issue," wrote Samuels, who called her firing a violation of the law.

Legal limits to removing NLRB board members

While courts have upheld the president's authority to remove the NLRB's general counsel, the National Labor Relations Act states that board members can be removed for neglect of duty or inefficiency in office, but for no other cause."

Judge pauses Trump's federal funding freeze as confusion and frustration spread

A 1935 Supreme Court case known as Humphrey's Executor established limits on the president's power to remove officials who perform quasi-legislative or quasi-judicial functions, as NLRB board members do.

In a statement, Wilcox called her firing illegal. sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

"I will be pursuing all legal avenues to challenge my removal, which violates long-standing Supreme Court precedent," she wrote.

Signaling an end to an era at worker-focused agencies

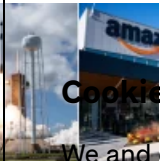

Since their appointments in 2021, Wilcox and Abruzzo had taken broad views of the protections labor law offers workers.

Wilcox, a former union lawyer, wrote that as the first Black woman to serve on the labor board, "I brought a unique perspective that I believe will be lost."

As the agency's prosecutor, Abruzzo worked to remove barriers to organizing, most recently winning a board ruling outlawing "captive audience" meetings, or mandatory meetings at which employers try to dissuade workers from unionizing.

Her approach toward protecting workers' rights and holding employers accountable has raised the ire of many in the corporate world. The NLRB faces more than two dozen lawsuits brought by companies, including SpaceX and Amazon, who say the agency's structure gives it unchecked power to shape and enforce labor law. Space X was founded by Trump adviser and billionaire Elon Musk.

BUSINESS

Accused of violating worker rights, SpaceX and Amazon go after labor board

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable the tracking technologies used on our website and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance navigation, improve site usage, and assist in our marketing efforts. (Note: Cookies do not collect your name, address, or other personally identifiable information.)

We and our partners process data to provide:

- Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

In his first term, Trump's general counsel at the labor agency was Peter Robb, a management-side labor attorney who served as lead counsel for President Ronald Reagan during the air-traffic controllers' strike in 1981.

Last week, Trump named Marvin Kaplan, the sole Republican board member on the NLRB, as chair. It's unclear when — or even if — Trump will fill the three vacant seats.

The ouster of Wilcox and Abruzzo came just hours after workers at a Whole Foods Market in Philadelphia voted, 130 to 100, to join the United Food & Commercial Workers union. The grocery chain is owned by Amazon, which is already mired in legal fights over efforts to unionize workers at its warehouses.

In a statement, Abruzzo highlighted work the NLRB accomplished under Biden, empowering workers to seek better wages, benefits and working conditions.

"There's no putting that genie back in the bottle," Abruzzo wrote. "So, if the Agency does not fully effectuate its Congressional mandate in the future as we did during my tenure, I expect that workers with assistance from their advocates will ~~take matters into their own hands in order to get well-deserved~~ dignity and respect in the workplace."

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

nlrbr trump labor unions eeo
We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads

you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by visiting our cookie settings or clicking on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website.

You count on public media for stories that help you understand your world —

For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

voices that bring us closer together. By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience.

People like you power public media. You make it possible for the NPR Network to share our journalism with you and millions of other people, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers. You are the "public" in public media. Can we count on you to support this essential public resource today?

We and our partners process data to provide:

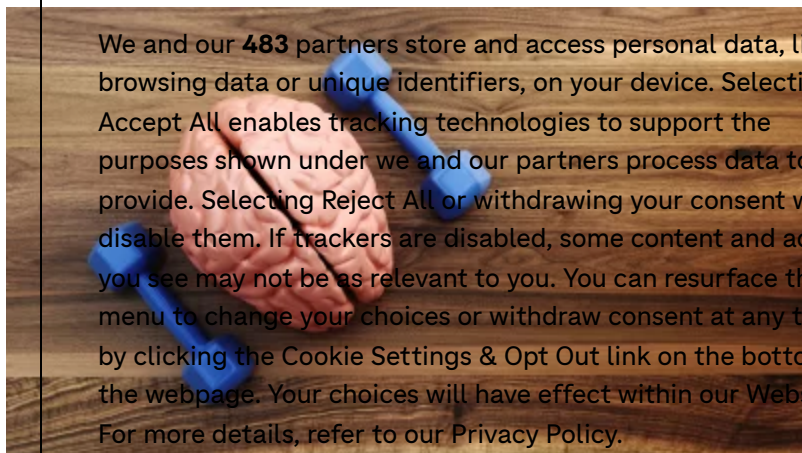

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

More Stories From NPR

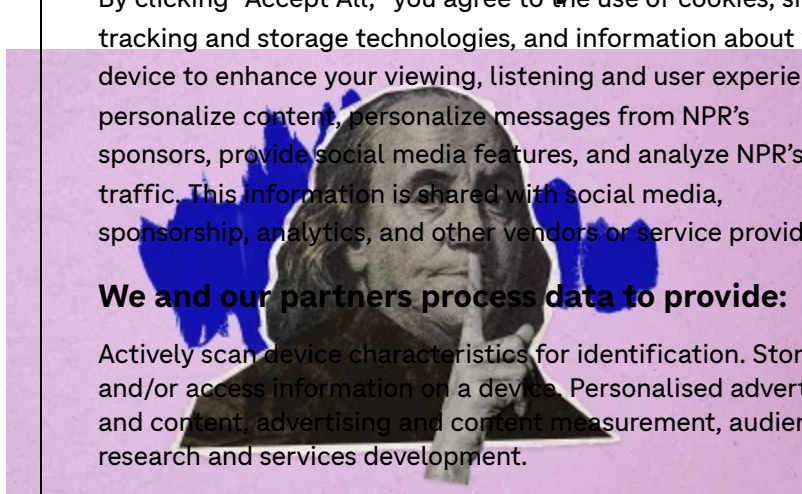

POP CULTURE HAPPY HOUR

The embarrassing truth of dating men : Pop Culture Happy Hour
Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

This form of mental exercise may cut dementia risk for decades

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

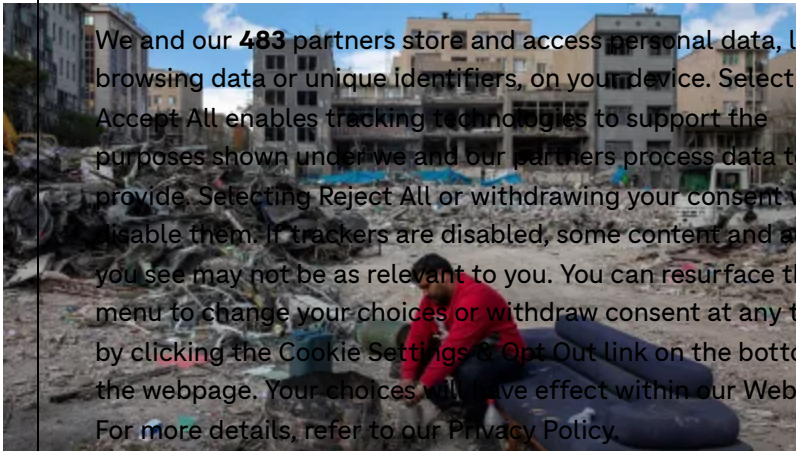

LIFE KIT

Money tips no one taught you : Life Kit

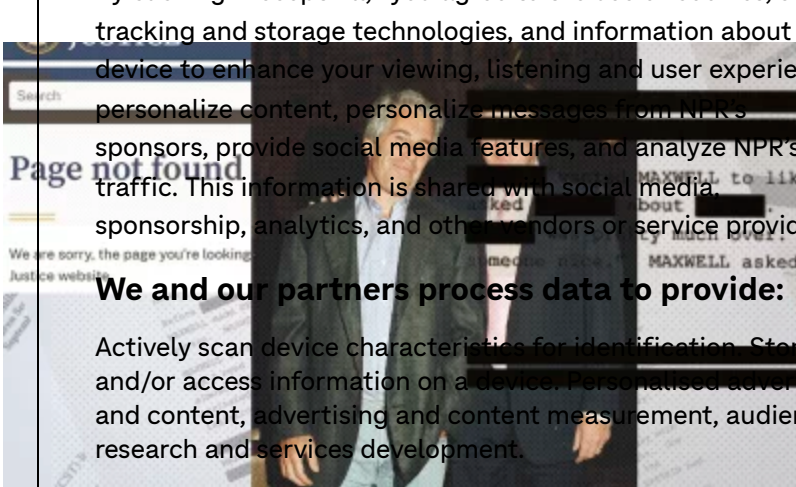

STATE OF THE WORLD FROM NPR

Is the U.S. threatening to commit war crimes in Iran? : State of the World from NPR
Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

U.S. and Iran agree to 2-week ceasefire, suspending Trump's threat to annihilate Iran

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalized advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

NEWS

Justice Department publishes some missing Epstein files related to Trump

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

When you Accept All, you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic: This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

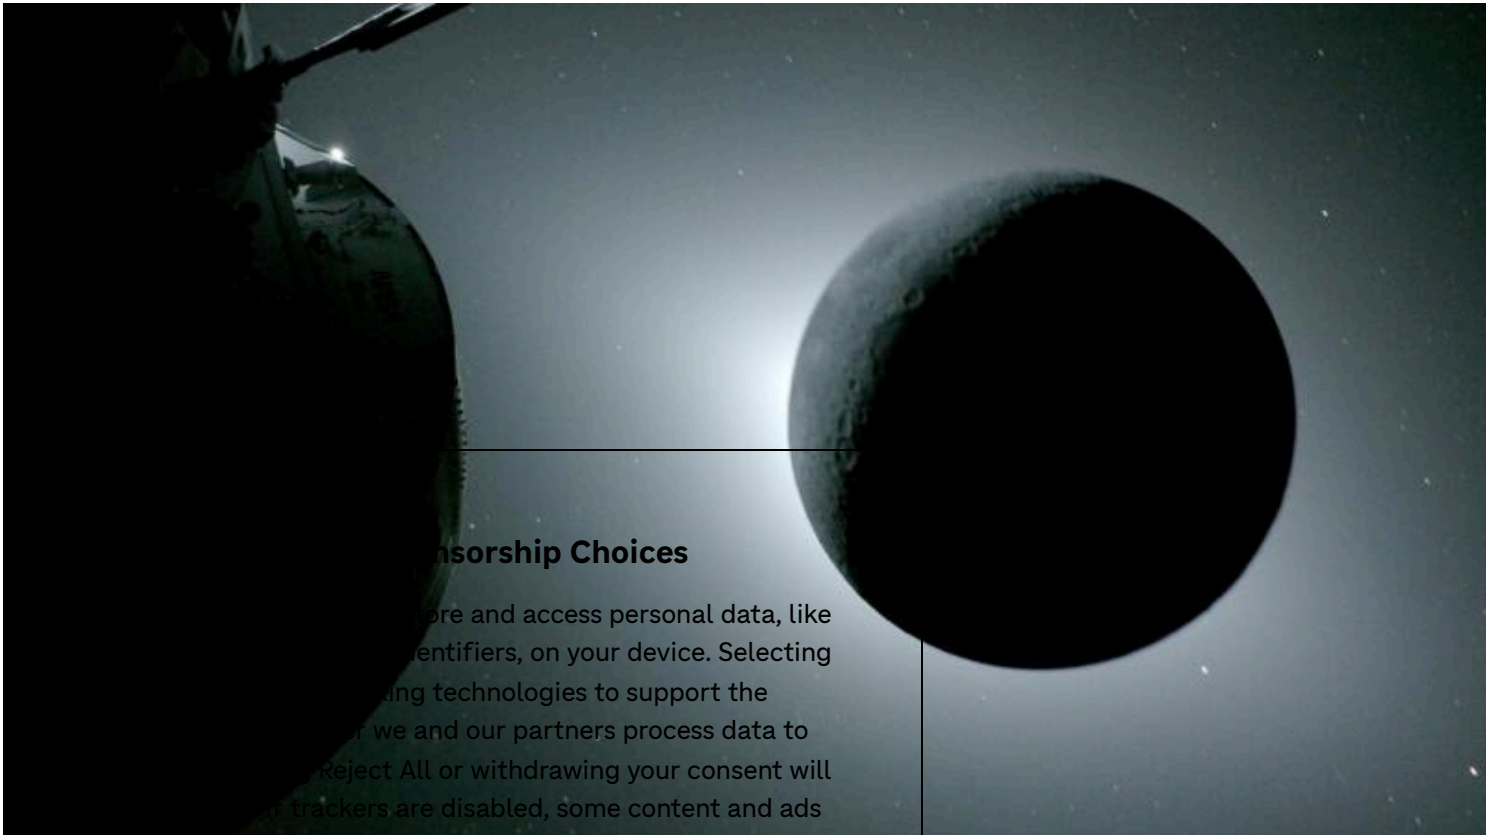

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience

MIDDLE EAST CONFLICT

U.S. and Iran agree to 2-week ceasefire, suspending Trump's threat to annihilate Iran

Sponsorship Choices

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

- Actively scan device characteristics for identification.
- Store and/or access information on a device.
- Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

SPACE you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

TECHNOLOGY
ICE acknowledges it is using powerful spyware

THE PICTURE SHOW
Photos: NASA releases first images from moon flyby

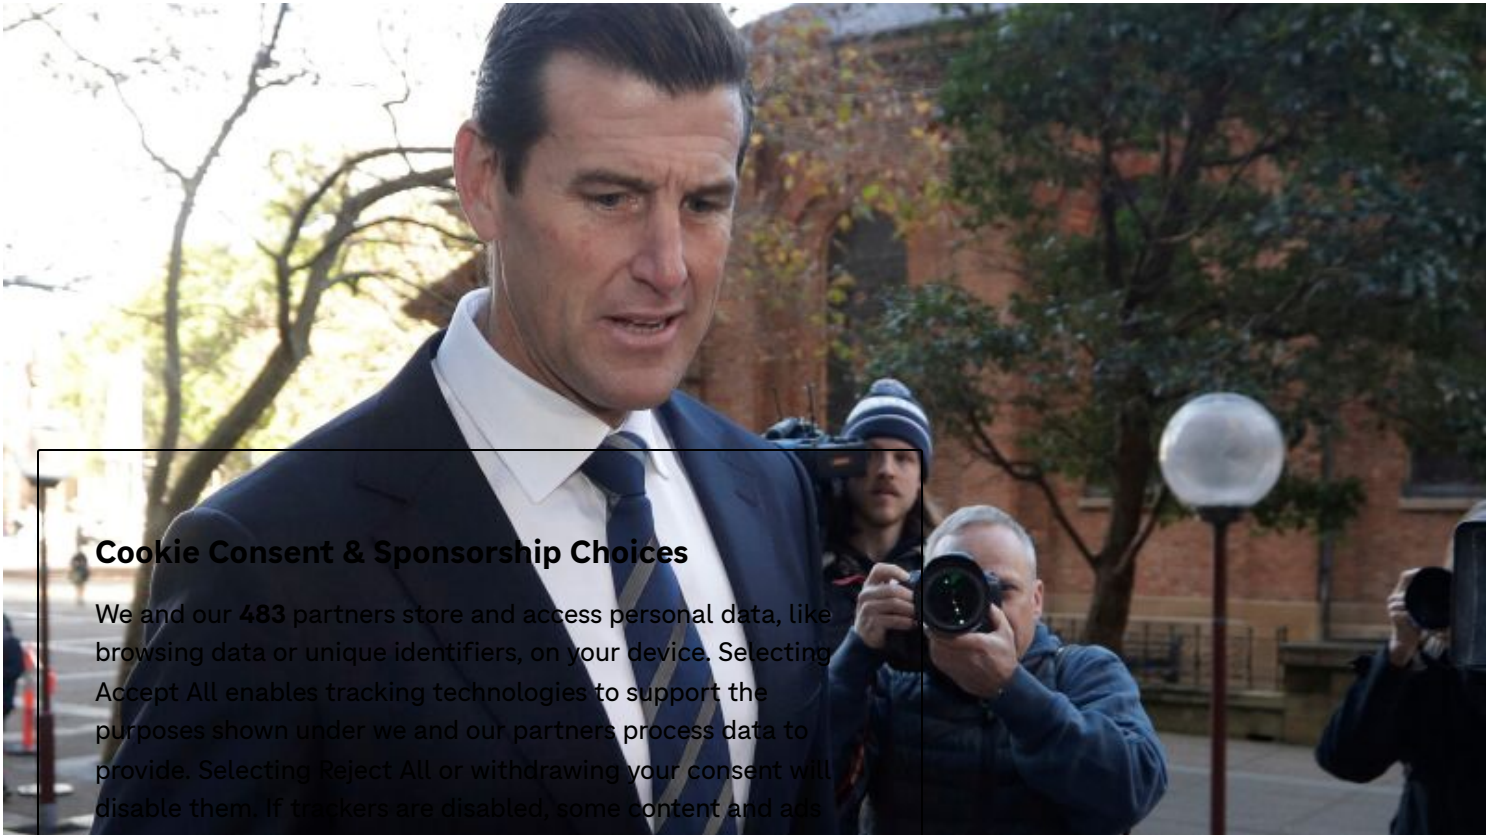

you may be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:
 Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalized advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

HEALTH
Telehealth abortion will remain available for now, after a federal judge's ruling

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads

you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

NPR Editors' Picks

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

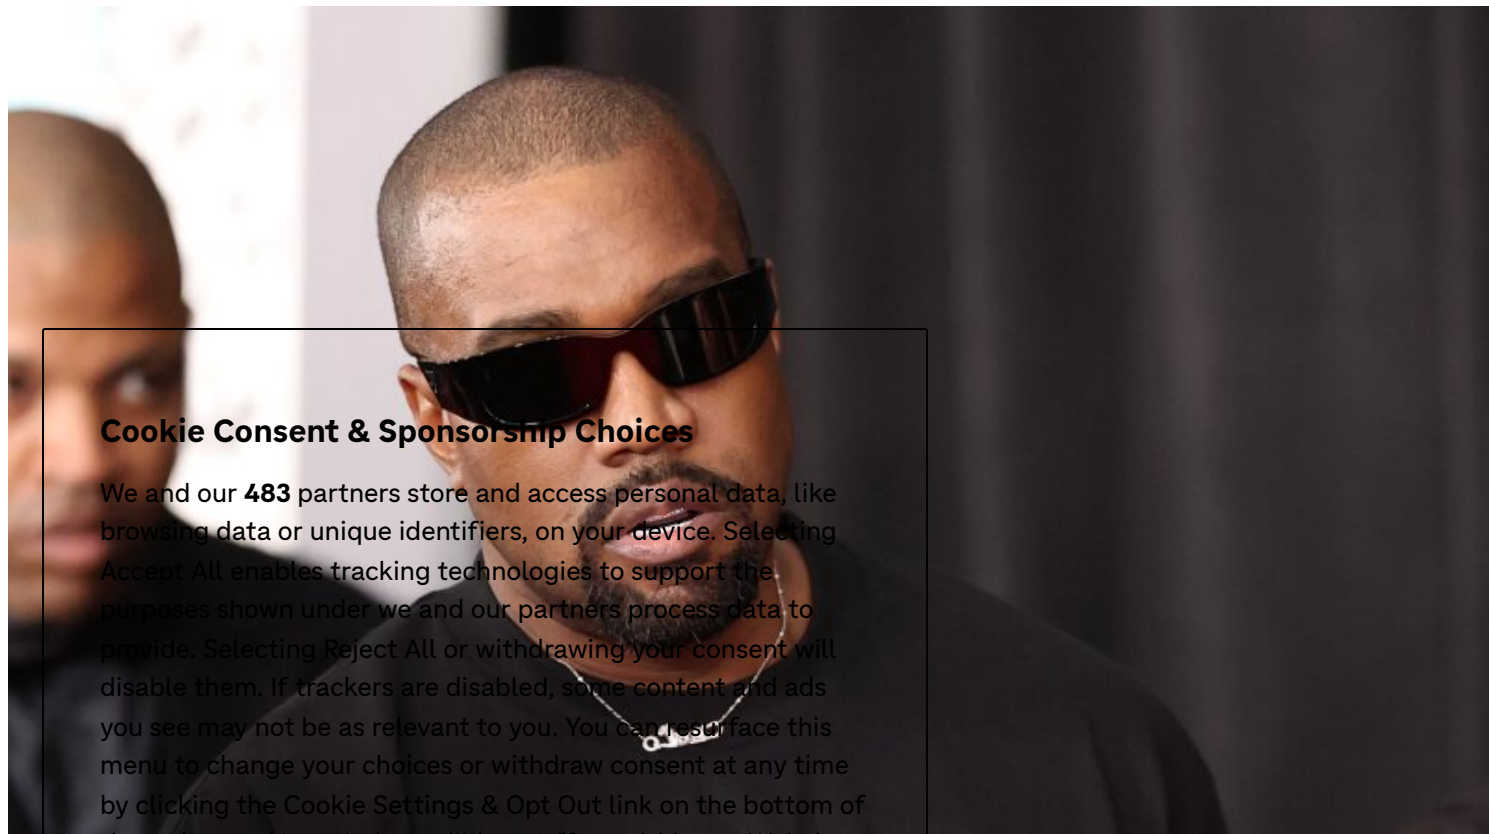

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

ASIA Australia charges ex-soldier with 5 war-crime murders in Afghanistan

POLITICS

Congressional Democrats raise alarm over Trump's comments on Iran

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our website.

For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

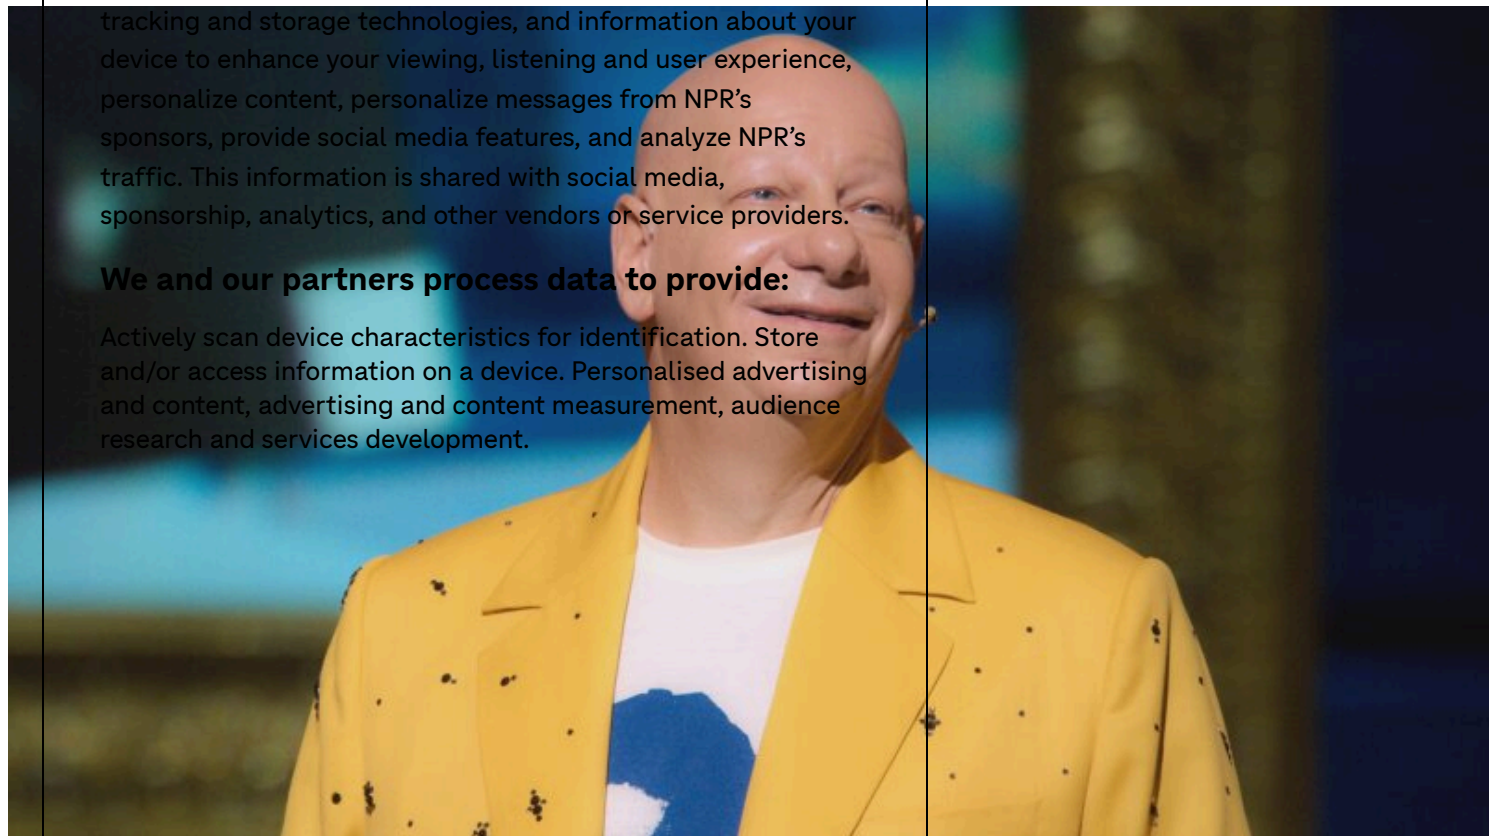

MUSIC

U.K. issues Ye travel ban over antisemitism, leading to festival cancellation

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

TELEVISION

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

We and our 433 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website.

ASIA Taiwan's opposition leader arrives in China for a Journey of Peace'

For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

By clicking "Accept All," you agree to the use of cookies, tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR's sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR's traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

Home Newsletters

News Facebook

Culture Instagram

Music We and our partners process data to provide press

Podcasts & Shows Public Editor

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

Corrections

Transcripts

Contact & Help

ABOUT NPR

GET INVOLVED

Overview

Support Public Radio

Diversity

Sponsor NPR

NPR Network

NPR Careers

Accessibility

NPR Shop

Ethics

NPR Extra

Finances

terms of use

Cookie Consent & Sponsorship Choices

privacy and our 483 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting your privacy choices

Accept All enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under we and our partners process data to provide. Selecting Reject All or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the Cookie Settings & Opt Out link on the bottom of the webpage. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy.

© 2026 npr

By clicking “Accept All,” you agree to the use of cookies, similar tracking and storage technologies, and information about your device to enhance your viewing, listening and user experience, personalize content, personalize messages from NPR’s sponsors, provide social media features, and analyze NPR’s traffic. This information is shared with social media, sponsorship, analytics, and other vendors or service providers.

We and our partners process data to provide:

Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.